Little four-year-old Lois Ann Kessel, of Fletcher, died in the Kessel Hospital at Ripley Friday evening at seven o'clock, almost five hours after she had been fatally burned at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Kessel, when her clothing caught on fire as she stood too near the open fireplace. It was a cold day and Lois Ann was playing about the house and would occasionally go up close to the fire to get warm. The mother was working in the kitchen at the time she heard the child's scream and rushing into the livingroom she found that the child's clothing was blazing and she attempted to smother out the flames with her bare hands with the results that she too was badly burned, although not fatally. Little Lois Ann's body was badly burned from her knees to her head and those that saw her said that it was surprising that she lived even five hours after the tragedy. She was taken to the hospital where everything was done to relieve her suffering, but from the beginning it was realized that the burns would prove fatal. The services were held at the Kessel residence near Fletcher on Sunday morning at eleven o'clock and burial was in the Kiser Cemetery. (Jackson Herald, 17 Dec 1937)

Funeral services for Charles Green Maddox, 77 year old farmer of near Given, who died at noon on Wednesday of last week, were held Friday at the Grasslick Baptist Church at Kenna, with the Dr. Fred Slaughter in charge. A large crowd of relatives and friends who had known and revered him in life were present for the last rites. Mr. Maddox had been seriously ill for several days prior to his death. Friends were notified on Tuesday that he was not expected to live and by Wednesday morning it was only a matter of hours. Charles G. Maddox, son of William D. Maddox, was born 15 Feb 1858 and departed this life 27 Nov 1935, age 77-9-12, being the last surviving member of his father's family. He was united in marriage to Delilah Belle Hill, daughter of the late Thomas and Rebecca Jane (Kessel) Hill, on April 14, 1887 and to this union were born the following children. Three sons and two daughters. Kelly C. and Roma Boyd preceding him to the great beyond. Surviving are his wife and the following children. Mrs. Ina Waugh of Ostrander, Ohio; Mrs. Pearlle Harrison of Duncan; Herbert Maddox of Given, and a foster daughter, Ora Wolfe. He was a kind husband and father and a highly respected citizen and obliging friend to all. He lived a Godly life before them. He gave his children the best training educationally and was himself a successful teacher in public schools for many years. He was converted and joined the Grasslick Baptist Church and remained an active member until the end. He took an active part in church work as superintendent and teacher in Sunday school. The passing of men we love and trust makes a gap in the ranks of our earthly associations, which the procession of time cannot repair. The coming of the death angel makes wounds which remedial measures of life cannot heal. The boatman will be there to extend the welcoming hand and with him we will embark for the farther shore on the swollen river of death. (Jackson Herald, 6 Dec 1935)

Mason Casto, a Jackson County native, who formerly attended Ripley High School where he was an outstanding athlete, was killed when a bee tree he was cutting kicked up and struck him in the head. A friend, Lee Campbell, also of Dunbar, who was with Casto, went to the Les Freeland residence in the area and summoned help. Arriving on the scene were members of the Ripley Volunteer Fire Department rescue squad and a county ambulance manned by a Ravenswood Volunteer Fire Department ambulance crew. Removal of the body was delayed because of the presence of the bees. The accident occurred on a farm owned by Delores Ranson in a section described as at the head of Bird Hollow off Coleman Branch Road near Fairplain.

When J. Frank Staats, more familiarly known to thousands as "Uncle Frank", died at nine o'clock Sunday night, a voice which had thrilled thousands with song, was silent in death and the last surviving member of a large pioneer family of Jackson County was gone. "Uncle Frank's" going had been expected. His condition had been critical for days but the constitution and the body which had carried him through 84 long years was strong and he would sink into the valley of shadows and come back, but finally, as the Sunday evening shadows were enveloping the Tug Fork Valley, which he had so long been a part, he crossed the Great Divide, there to meet and mingle with those of his generation, who had preceded him. Two years ago he suffered a stroke as his home in Ripley, where he had come after the death of his wife seven years ago. Then last January he suffered another stroke and his grand daughter, Mrs. Urada Chancey cared for him until his death. He was a native of the Tug Fork section of the county, a son of Isaac Staats. When a young man he married Miss Sarah Casto, of that community, and they had three sons, Dr. Oshel C. Staats of Ripley, Attorney Carter W. Staats of Ripley, and C. L. Staats of Fairplain. The wife preceded him in death seven years ago. The funeral services were held at the Siniaville Church at Staats Mills on Thursday morning at ten-thirty with the Rev. T. O. Powers, his lifelong friend, in charge and burial was in the Siniaville cemetery. Rev. Irvin Fisher and his choir furnished the vocal music and the Vail Undertaking Company had charge of the funeral arrangements. (Jackson Herald, Friday, 5 June 1942)
